Description

A pair of Louis XVI-style armchairs in stained, molded and carved walnut dating from the 19th century, circa 1860-1880. Faithfully inspired by a period model, they rest on a fluted base and their backs are finely carved with quivers. It should be noted that the very reasonable price takes into account the condition of the seats, which, although still serviceable, are made up of springs at the end of their travels, destining these armchairs rather for very decorative use or restoration by an upholsterer. Seat height: 44 cm. If required, we can ship to mainland France for EUR150.
