Description

An unsigned painting in the Pre-Raphaelite style, likely by an English artist, dated 1880. The work depicts a genre scene set in a wooded landscape, with three female figures and two children in the foreground.The composition features stylistic references attributable to the Pre-Raphaelite movement, evident in the arrangement of the figures, the setting, and the iconographic allusions.Painted in tempera on stiff cardboard, the support measures 55 x 103 x 1.5 cm and was subsequently mounted on a medium-density fiberboard panel for conservation purposes.The work is accompanied by a non-contemporary frame, of recent manufacture, carved and lacquered with classical motifs, complete with anti-reflective glass; overall dimensions with frame: 78 x 126 x 7 cm.The condition is good,
