Description

Max Carlier (1872-1938), famous Belgian painter. Oil on canvas depicting a genre scene. In a beautiful bourgeois interior of the Roaring Twenties, two young women in light dresses, one seated on cushions, the other reclining on a daybed, exchange confidences in a joyful and intimate atmosphere. Superb work, perfect mastery of light and shadows. Signed at the bottom right, countersigned and titled "Joyeuse Confidence" on the back of the canvas. Nice posterior frame in gilded wood and faux marble. All in perfect condition.
