Description

"Mother and child in front of a mirror" Elegant enameled porcelain subject depicting a young mother holding her child in front of a mirror, in a composition full of gentleness and simplicity. The refined treatment of the forms, the delicacy of the faces and the sobriety of the white enameling evoke the productions of the German modern school of the early 20th century. The integrated mirror adds depth and originality to the whole, creating a subtle play of reflections between the sculpture and its image. The composition rests on a stylized base with discreet geometric lines, reinforcing the balance and modernity of the piece.
