Description

Period albumen print circa 1870-Under mat 50x65 cm- Photo format 14.8 x 21.3 cm-Board format 43 x 53 cmFrom the 1870s onwards, agricultural photography developed, particularly to illustrate progress in animal husbandry and agricultural exhibitions. Cows were photographed in poses, often in exhibition frames or in pastures, to show their morphology and economic value in the context of documentary photography and the representation of the rural world.link to site
