Description

An elegant pair of watercolor lithographs from the late 19th century, depicting naturalistic subjects adorned with delicate depictions of birds and vegetation. These prints, finely hand-colored, retain all the charm of 19th-century decorative art, where scientific precision and aesthetic taste come together harmoniously. The works are enhanced by their original period frames, crafted from wood with a burl-effect finish and gilded interior profiles, which highlight their refinement and visual impact. An elegant and decorative set, ideal for classic settings, studies, libraries, or interiors with a refined aesthetic. Authentic and well-preserved pieces, perfect for display as a pair.
