Description

Pair of large Louis XV queen-size armchairs in carved and waxed beech, 18th century. Their flat purplish backs are fitted with armrests resting on whiplash-shaped brackets. The wide seat with scalloped crossbar rests on four curved legs ending in shells. They are carved with flowers, acanthus leaves, cartouches, etc. The traditional upholstery has been redone and covered with a very bright damask in the taste of the period in shades of beige and light green. Good condition, use and maintenance restorations, notably to the base (grafting and splinters see photos) We deliver worldwide, please contact us for a precise delivery quote.
