Description

Rare representation of Saint Barbara holding a tower in her right arm and resting on a high pedestal. The pedestal bears the inscription: "This work was commissioned by the Confraternity of Saint Barbara under the priory of Bartolomeo de Monte Sisto and Paolo de Suma Ripa, as well as of Battista Samb Aldi and Antonio de Castello, in the year of our Lord 1539, on the first day of February. the first day of February." Although the statue's head is missing, the statue is missing, it nonetheless exudes impressive charisma and is very well finished. The dedication probably refers to a fine example of Italian Renaissance sculpture!
