Wooden Sculpture Of A Bacchic Allegory, Carved From Swiss Pine. (72 Cm High)

1 800 EUR

Period : 18th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Solid wood

Height : 72

Description

A beautiful, finely carved sculpture in Swiss pine depicting a cherub holding a bunch of grapes, alluding allegorically to the cult of Bacchus. The design is elegant, with the cherub's nudity covered by a drape held in place by a shoulder strap, and the figure is anatomically well-structured. The cherub rests on a faux rocky terrain that evokes the style of Roman Baroque.The carving, likely from the northern region, dates to around the mid-18th century.The height of the work is 72 cm.A certificate of authenticity is included with the sale.
