Description

Pair of vases with irises
Elegant pair of turquoise-glazed ceramic vases decorated with stylized irises, enhanced with gilding, the work of Émile Diffloth in the Art Nouveau taste. Each vase features a slender baluster form with openwork side handles, adorned with a rich floral decoration of white irises and sinuous foliage unfolding against a luminous turquoise-blue background. The gold-underlined contours bring refinement and preciousness to the ensemble. The decorative composition, much inspired by the Art Nouveau plant repertoire, highlights the fluidity of lines and elegance of curves characteristic of the decorative arts of the early 20th century. Great decorative presence for this pair of vases with harmonious dimensions and particularly luminous polychromy. Artist: Émile Diffloth for Boch
