Description

Arno Drescher was born on March 17, 1882 in Auerbach, Vogtland. He came from a family of artists: his father was a decorative painter and letterer, which introduced him to painting and design at an early age. After attending the Auerbach teacher training college, he obtained his A-levels in 1902 and initially worked as an auxiliary teacher. Only a few years later, however, he decided on a career in art, and in 1905 began studies at the Dresden School of Decorative Arts. At the same time, he obtained a diploma as a drawing teacher, graduating with honors in 1907. Artistic and academic career Early on, Drescher combined artistic practice with teaching. He trained future art teachers and opened his own studio in Dresden in 1916. In 1920, he became professor of free and applied
