Description

An elegant oil painting by Pier Francesco Cittadini, known as "il Milanese" (1616-1681), depicting a half-length portrait of a young gentleman. The man wears a rich black suit with wide, puffed white sleeves and refined textile details, embellished by a striking square lace collar finely decorated, a distinctive feature of 17th-century aristocratic fashion. An embroidered sash crosses the torso diagonally, suggesting high social status. It features a gilded wooden frame. Italian School, 17th century.
