Description

Pair of Medici vases in cast iron with aged blue patina, resting on a square base and adorned with scrolled side grips.The decoration features a beautiful plant frieze in relief under the lip, with an aged patina shaded blue, gray and brown, testifying to long aging outdoors.These elegantly proportioned garden vases are part of the 19th-century decorative tradition, inspired by antique models and widely used in parks, orangeries and characterful residences.Great decorative presence. They can accommodate heather, ivy or small topiaries to create a sober, elegant ensemble, equally at home in an entrance hall, veranda, terrace or on either side of a fireplace.Their patina and proportions make them sought-after character pieces for both interior and exterior decoration.Provenance: Norman château
