Description

Pair of carved wood wall sconces with gold leaf finish - Late 19th century
Elegant pair of carved wood wall sconces with a gold leaf finish, crafted in the late 19th century. The decoration, featuring rich scrollwork and acanthus leaf motifs, evokes the neoclassical style with Baroque influences, typical of Italian artisanal production of the era. The sinuous lines and original gilding, now enriched by a pleasant patina of age, lend these pieces authentic charm and timeless elegance. Both wall sconces were electrified at a later date, preserving their original structure and aesthetic. Perfect for furnishing classic interiors, dramatic entryways, or for adding a striking light fixture to more modern settings.
