Description

Surrealist solid bronze death mask of a woman XXth cabinet of curiosity
Feminine grace frozen in a rough-cast appearance. Created by a bronze sculptor in the mid-20th century, this is a true work of funereal art, tragic poetry. A death mask is a cast of the face of someone who has recently died, to preserve a realistic portrait of their face forever. This bronze has a golden patina & mordorée with age. The eyebrows, eyes and mouth are at the center of this natural look, left untouched when the mold was stripped. It's a surreal approach to a death mask. Ideal for a curiosity cabinet, its distinctive, modern form will make it an excellent subject for a desk, shelf or framed by a craftsman. Fast & careful shipping to France, Europe & worldwide.
