Description

This Scandinavian teak furniture piece, by Eros, is an iconic piece from the 1960s, combining timeless elegance and functionality. Its sleek design, characteristic of Scandinavian style, makes it a sought-after item for vintage furniture enthusiasts. Overall, it stands in good condition, with sober lines and a teak finish that testify to its original quality. Please note: a stain is present on the top of the piece, a detail to be taken into account, but which does not alter its charm or solidity. The interior, meanwhile, is perfectly preserved, offering practical and aesthetically pleasing storage space. This generously-sized piece of furniture (width: 140.5 cm, height: 120 cm, depth: 47 cm) will fit easily into a variety of spaces. Whether sublimating a living room, office or hallway, it will bring a touch of authenticity and warmth to your interior. For enthusiasts of coherent decoration, be aware that it's possible to purchase the complete set: the matching table, a sideboard from the same series, and 6 teak chairs, all in the same Scandinavian spirit. A rare opportunity to treat yourself to a harmonious set, where each piece dialogues with the others to create a unique ambiance. This piece of furniture is not just a utilitarian object. It's a piece of history, a heritage of Nordic design that has survived the decades without a wrinkle. Its solid wood, meticulous finishes and timeless style make it a lasting investment, as aesthetically pleasing as it is practical. If you're looking for a piece of furniture that combines authenticity, sturdiness and aesthetics, this Eros model from the 60s is for you.
