Description

Elegant Italian bar cabinet from the 1950s, resting on four tapered legs in blackened wood. The front features a remarkable relief-carved decoration, composed of a geometric checkerboard pattern with three-dimensional effect, characteristic of post-war Italian design. The door opens onto a refined interior, fully fitted with glass shelves and mirrored back, ideal for displaying glassware and spirits. This piece perfectly illustrates the refinement of Italian furniture from the 1950s, where rigorous lines are combined with sophisticated decorative research. The highly graphic front work, as well as the contrast between blackened wood and carved elements, evoke the creations of Paolo Buffa, a major figure in Italian design from this period. The mirrored interior accentuates the luminous, scenographic
