Description

Discover an exceptional suite of six vintage Scandinavian chairs, a true gem of 1960s design. These unique pieces, probably from the EROS edition, elegantly combine the timeless charm of teak wood with the modern, hard-wearing appeal of black skai. Each chair embodies the minimalist, functional spirit of Scandinavian design, an aesthetic that has spanned the decades without taking on a wrinkle. Teak wood, known for its durability and natural beauty, adds a warm, authentic touch to these seats. Black skai, meanwhile, offers a striking contrast, while guaranteeing optimal resistance to the wear and tear of time. The dimensions of these chairs have been thought out to combine comfort and harmony in your interior. With a backrest height of 84 cm, they offer perfect back support. The 45 cm seat height is ideal for a comfortable position at the table. The 46 cm seat width and 39 cm depth ensure generous space for sitting with ease. These chairs are not just decorative objects, but true collector's items, perfect for sublimating a dining room, living room or even a workspace. They will integrate with bravura into a modern interior as well as a more classic setting, adding a touch of refinement and character. And that's not all. The table, sideboard and sideboard bar from the same series are also available. Imagine the perfect harmony of a complete set, where each element dialogues with the others to create a coherent, elegant ambience. Don't pass up the opportunity to own these Scandinavian vintage chairs, rare pieces that will appeal to design enthusiasts and discerning collectors.
