Description

Lenin solid bronze death mask early 20th century curiosity cabinet
The strength of a political leader, frozen in a noble material. Created by a bronze sculptor in the early 20th century, this is a true work of funereal art, tragic poetry. A death mask is a cast of the face of a recently deceased person, to preserve a realistic portrait of his or her face forever. This bronze has a golden patina giving it cachet. Very realistic, the details blend into the bronze with surgical precision: eyelashes, cheekbones, mouth and eyes, like an eternal portrait in Bronze. Ideal for a curiosity cabinet, this mask will make an excellent subject for a desk, shelf or framed by a craftsman. Fast & careful shipping to France, Europe & worldwide.
