Description

Murano glass pendant lamp attributed to Barovier, 1930s/1940s. Elegant pendant lamp crafted from Murano art glass and gilded brass, attributed to the Barovier workshop, dating from the 1930s/1940s. The structure consists of a central brass rod supporting a decorative circular ring with a light-emitting bowl in transparent blown glass. The glass features ribbed work with a wavy, petal-like edge, typical of Murano production between the late Art Deco and early Modernist periods. Two side elements in molded glass complete the composition with an elegant sculptural effect. Dimensions: h 76 cm, w 30 cm, d 17 cm
