Description

This huge oil painting, made from high-quality materials, is the ideal centerpiece to enhance any room in your home. Its dimensions (220 cm x 145 cm) and impressive details make it a remarkable work of art that is sure to amaze your guests. Inspired by a 17th-century Aubusson tapestry, this painting depicts Hero playing the flute with Leander in the middle of a raging sea. This work is part of a series of six famous Mortlake tapestries, illustrating the ancient Greek myth of the tragic love between the priestess Hero and Leander. Leander swam across the dangerous currents of the Hellespont, between Europe and Asia, to reach his beloved, but drowned on a stormy night. The first set of these tapestries was made for James I in 1625. This superb French mural presents a captivating pastoral scene in
