Description

Elegant pair of Louis XIV-style wall sconces, made during the Napoleon III - Second Empire period.Each sconce features an important openwork decoration in bronze with a medal patina, centered on a beveled circular mirror that comes to reflect the light from the three moving arms that make up the set.The bronze work is particularly decorative, with a rich ornamental repertoire blending scrolls, foliage and masks in a spirit highly representative of Second Empire historicist taste. The finely curved light arms give the ensemble a beautiful mural presence and a very elegant balance.The beveled antique mirrors offer a nice visual depth and enhance the luminous effect once the candles or bulbs are installed. The set retains a pleasant, warm and nuanced original medallion patina, which
