Description

An elegant painted wooden balustrade dating from the late 19th to early 20th century, crafted in the 17th-century style and decorated with polychrome faux marble. The structure features a stepped base and a series of central turned balusters, embellished with decorative details reminiscent of classical Italian architecture. The refined painted finish imitating marble, combined with the harmonious proportions of the whole, gives the piece a strong visual and decorative presence. Ideal as an architectural furnishing element, console table, or room divider with great historical charm. Period: 19th-20th century Materials: wood painted to imitate marble Style: 17th-century style Condition: good overall condition, with slight signs of wear consistent with its age.
