Description

Elegant Louis XVI-style games table, in black lacquered wood, resting on four tapered and fluted legs, characteristic of the neoclassical repertoire. This piece is distinguished by its ingenious transformable system: the top opens to reveal a green felt playing surface, ideal for cards. A discreet drawer completes the set, offering practical storage space. The front is richly adorned with carved motifs with vegetal decoration, underlining the quality of the workmanship and the elegance of the proportions. The contrast between the deep black of the wood and the luminous green of the felt gives this table a character that is both refined and timeless. At the crossroads of aesthetics and functionality, this table will find its perfect place in an elegant, classic or contemporary interior. Condition: very
