Description

The young woman wears a white linen day dress with a gigot sleeve, trimmed with goose feathers for volume, and flowers in her hair, so as not to forget that youth eventually passes. The young man wears an outfit typical of his short "Duchesse de Berry" period, in search of a fantasized Middle Ages. To the right of the painting is a pigeon pierced by an arrow, symbolizing a love won. 19th century circa 1820.
