Description

Pair of Florentine wall sconces in carved and gilded wood - Rocaille style, circa 1870. Each sconce features two arms of light richly adorned with finely carved acanthus leaves of volutes with shells in the center. The ensemble unfurls an abundant, eventful decoration, characteristic of the Rocaille taste and Italian Baroque inspiration. The woodwork is a masterpiece of the Rocaille style. The gilded woodwork particularly highlights the dynamic reliefs and curves of the composition, creating a refined and decorative play of light. The Florentine productions of the XIXe century are renowned for their quality of execution and their ability to reinterpret the Baroque models of the XVIIe and XVIIIe
