Description

Rare set of legal documents concerning the period from 1779 to 1783, relating to the south-east of France, collected in 13 Volumes In 4 , full basane with ribbed spine, titles and classification by year in ochre and black. These rare documents come from the chateau of a Magistra in Dauphiné, and are a living testimony to the mores of the late 18th century, under the reign of Louis XVI; the following page and pages list the various disputes in a carefully indexed handwriting of the period ;;; everything is discussed, including the slave trade. A remarkable collection of pleadings and their responses, set in the context of Provence, with a wealth of curious items that bear witness to their time, highly instructive, and an unparalleled historical record of the customs of the time, in short, a tool for the "seasoned historian" that is
