Description

Elegant Louis XV period Provencal chest of drawers, dating from the XVIIIe century, in molded and patinated wood, resting on graceful curved legs characteristic of Provencal furniture. The slightly curved front opens with two wide drawers embellished with scalloped reserves and bronze pull handles. The panelled sides and curved lines of the ensemble bear witness to the refinement of the Louis XV style in Provence. This chest of drawers is distinguished by its beautiful openwork crosspiece sculpted with delicately worked floral decoration, bringing lightness and elegance to the furniture's silhouette. The scalloped top and antique patina in soft cream and green tones enhance all the authentic charm of this regional piece. Very beautiful piece of antique furniture, as decorative
