Description

The antique flowers still life paintings present an elegant oil on canvas work from the 19th century. French antique artwork.

The composition features a rich floral still life bouquet of chrysanthemums, accompanied by asters and similar garden flowers.

Warm and harmonious tones, delicate shades of white, pink, yellow, and red blend masterfully, creating a soft and elegant pictorial effect.

The brushwork is fluid and textured, typical of 19th-century painting, with a careful study of light and volume that gives depth and realism to the scene.

The neutral background enhances the floral composition, giving balance and strong visual impact to the artwork.

signed lower left by Marguerite, a French painter about whom little is known, active between the late 19th and early 20th century.

The painting is enriched with an ornate antique gilded frame, finely crafted, enhancing its classical character and making it ideal for elegant and representative interiors.

The antique gilded frame and the oil painting have been professionally and carefully restored.

Therefore, the 19th-century floral still life paintings with chrysanthemums and asters, from the Bisgart Collection, can be viewed at our gallery, where many other works are available.
