Material : Marquetry

Description

Vitrine à Hauteur d'Appui en Marqueterie Boulle - Époque Napoléon III Elegant Louis XIV-style, Napoleon III-era (19th century) vitrine à hauteur d'appui (or in-between display cabinet), designed on a sturdy frame of blackened wood veneered oak. The front opens with a glass door darkened with an interior fabric (burgundy velvet), ideal for showcasing collectibles. The door and lower plinth receive a rich "Boulle" marquetry decoration in the first part, combining fine chased brass scrolls on a brown tortoiseshell background. Ornamentation and Bronzes The piece features a complete trim of beautifully crafted gilded and chased bronzes: Upper: Gilded lingotière underlined by a rais de coeur frieze, centered by a large cartel with a mascaron motif and foliate scrolls. Bronze corner spandrels. Front:

Door spandrels adorned with large stylized shells and foliage. Original bronze keyhole. Sides: Decorated in the center with a large Transition/Louis XIV-style lyre flanked by rosettes at the corners. Base: Wide, curved plinth underlined by a row of ormolu interlacing, resting on straight skate feet. The top is topped with original black marble, bringing sobriety and contrasting with the brilliance of the gilding. Condition and features Dimensions : Height : 117 cm | Width : 60 cm | Depth : 40 cm Locks : Original working lock, with key. General condition : Needs restoration, structurally sound. Restoration to be expected: Slight lifting / piece of brass marquetry needs to be glued back (element preserved), normal wear and tear for a piece of furniture from this period. A piece of bronze is missing from the bottom of the display case.
