A six-panel screen painted on paper depicting an autumn landscape with a momiji maple tree and sparrows. The tree extends across the central panels, with red leaves scattered among the branches, while small birds, both perched and in flight, animate the scene. On the right side, a body of water with reeds and marsh vegetation completes the composition. The subject recalls the theme of momijigari, the traditional appreciation of autumn leaves, symbolizing the transience of beauty and the passing of time. Artist's signature and seal in the lower left corner. Period: Meiji period, late 19th century. Dimensions: 171 × 378 cm. Condition: The screen is in good condition with minor surface stains and signs of wear to the lacquered frame.
