

PROANTIC
LE PLUS BEAU CATALOGUE D'ANTIQUITES

Victorian Rosebud Diamond Locket In 18 Karat Gold, Eugène Soulens

6 150 EUR

Signature : Eugène Soulens

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Gold

Description

Victorian rosebud diamond locket in 18 karat gold. Large locket pendant adorned with an elaborate relief decoration representing two rosebuds, inlaid on the front face. Mounted on silver, they are entirely set with rose-cut diamonds and small fine pearls. The stems are delicately crafted, imitating plant texture. The flower petals are in pink enamel. The rest of the locket is smooth and without other decoration. It opens to place an object or a photograph, protected by a central glass pane framed in gold. Typical of the years 1860-1870, this jewel revives a naturalist subject very popular at the time. Made by Eugène Louis Soulens, goldsmith active since 1864. Cassolette locket, circa 1860, France. Eagle head hallmark, goldsmith's hallmark and owl hallmark. Height: 5.5 cm - Width: 3.3 cm -

Dealer

Maison Mohs

Antique & Vintage jewelry

- sur rendez-vous -

Paris 75004

Thickness: 1.5 cm Estimated total weight of diamonds: 0.40 carat. Condition: some scratches from use. Weight: 23.11 g *The gold chain and the old box are not sold with the jewel *See our antique chains