Description

Beautiful copper bedwarmer hinged and lidded, early 19th century, in good general condition, few deformations, turned wooden handle a little split and shortened. Nice work of repéré on lid, with denting and amatis, but, what is extraordinary are the deliberately decorative copper cut-outs, forming a set of brazed dovetail brass, demonstrating a rare dexterity. The boilermaker was proud of it, and signed his work, dated 1819, in Dieuze, see our photos. Was this perhaps a master's work? Copper: 40cm, diam: 32cm, H: 14cm, with handle: 84cm.
