Description

Christ on the cross carved in polychrome wood, work from the XVIIIe century, from the Haute Époque period. This early work features beautiful expressiveness in Christ's reclining face and remarkable carving in the anatomical treatment and drapery. The original polychromy, worn by time, gives the whole a strong presence and an authentic historical patina. The model stands out for its popular and devotional character, with many traces of time enhancing its charm and authenticity. Carved crown of thorns, remnants of ancient polychromy and beautiful tension of lines give this piece a great deal of emotion. It's a very special piece. Dimensions: 73 cm high. Great collector's or decorative object for lovers of sacred art and the Haute Époque.
