prominent layered bloom, designed to sit elegantly along the neckline.o Clip-On Earrings:Matching floral sprays, beautifully balanced and designed to frame the face.o Floral Brooch:A sculptural, multi-layered pin which can be worn independently or used to complement the necklace.?Design & Craftsmanshipo A vibrant combination of Aurora Borealis (AB), cerise pink, emerald green and champagne-toned rhinestones, all hand-set for maximum brillianceo High-quality gold-tone openwork settings, typical of German manufacture (Pforzheim / Neugablonz workshops supplying Dior during this period)o Excellent depth and dimensionality, giving the set a true couture presence?Presentation & ProvenanceRetaining:o Original Christian Dior satin poucho Original presentation boxo Period handwritten inscription referring to the piece as a gift by "the late French designer Christian Dior," suggesting a post-1957 presentationSuch completeness is increasingly rare and adds significantly to the desirability of the set.?ConditionExcellent vintage condition:o All stones appear present with strong sparkleo Minimal age-related wear to the metalworko Box and pouch show expected wear consistent with age(As with all vintage items, minor signs of age should be expected.)?Measurements (approx.)o Necklace: 14"-16" adjustableo Earrings: 2"o Brooch: 2.5"?Final NoteA highly decorative and wearable example of mid-century Dior costume jewellery -- equally suited to collectors or as a statement ensemble. Complete sets of this calibre, especially with original packaging, are becoming increasingly difficult to source.The handwritten text on the box identifies the contents as a gift for a woman named Elsie Mantaly. It says:FOR ELSIE MANTALYON HER BIRTHDAY By the late French Designer Christian DiorOn the right side, it also lists the individual pieces included in the set:necklace& clip Ear RingsB - - Broach (followed by additional faded or shorthand notes)The reference to "the late French Designer" is a key historical clue, as it implies

this gift was likely given sometime after Christian Dior's death in 1957
