Description

Charming pair of table lamps in Scandinavian design from the 1960s/1970s, combining a structure probably in teak with luminous diffusers in granulated Perspex, with a particularly decorative textured relief. Their sober, minimalist aesthetic, typical of Nordic design, makes them easy to integrate into contemporary, vintage or modernist interiors. The diffusers diffuse a soft, warm light, with a beautiful material effect once the lamps are switched on. Both lamps are in good condition and presentation (in keeping with age and function). The electrical installation has been overhauled: sockets and sockets have been replaced to ensure comfortable and safe use. They are perfectly functional and ready for use. Their compact format also makes them a very pretty pair of bedside lamps, bringing subdued light and
