Description

Antique hand-carved white marble capital, dating from the late 16th to early 17th century. The piece features elegant decorative motifs in the late Renaissance style, with floral elements and scrolls carved in relief. The surface retains a beautiful antique patina and natural signs of aging that attest to its authenticity and historical charm.

An architectural fragment of great character, ideal as a decorative piece, for a collection, or for spaces with a historical and material-focused aesthetic. It also lends itself perfectly as an ornamental object for interiors, bookstores, or antique shops.
