Description

Antique drawing (ink, wash or graphite with highlights) depicting a lively, dynamic equestrian scene. The work features a rider in full gallop, dressed in traditional costume (evoking Caucasian horsemen, Cossacks or bachi-bouzouks), proudly brandishing a white weapon or rifle. The line is lively, precise and shows great mastery of movement, particularly in the anatomy of the horse in full action and the draping of the rider's clothing. A work full of character, perfect for lovers of military art, history or 19th-century Orientalist themes. Don't hesitate to contact me for more information.
