Description

A chubby putto pours out a basket of fish. Signed large bronze, dark brown matte patina - glossy.

We have here the meeting of the iconography of the child with the fish (porte bonheur / abundance) and European Art Deco. With Meiji, classical French sculpture was taught in Japan.

Japanese artists created in the Art Nouveau then Art Deco vein. Goishi NAKANO belonged to the "Keizai-sha", Japan's first secular sculpture group (1927 to 1943). His works always have the duality of Tradition and European modernity. Weight 8.8 kg - Shipment France:
