Description

Set Of 6 Louis XVI Style Dining Chairs In Marquetry, 19th Century Beautiful suite of six Louis XVI-style dining chairs, dating from the 19th century, combining neoclassical elegance and decorative refinement. These chairs are distinguished by their balanced proportions, tapered and fluted legs, and openwork backs with geometric decoration, characteristic of the Louis XVI taste. The wooden structure is enhanced by a delicate floral marquetry decoration, finely distributed on the crosspieces, uprights and backs, bringing charm, finesse and ornamental richness to the whole..The seats, recently reupholstered in a light, neutral fabric, offer an elegant contrast to the warmth of the wood and make this suite as pleasing to use as it is to display in a refined dining room, living room or classic interior.
