Description

An important 17th-century wooden sculpture, finely decorated and carved in the round. The Baroque-style figure depicts a young page or angel holding a lamp, characterized by a delicate expression and a rich original polychrome finish in warm, golden tones. The arm supports an elegant, multi-branched light fixture in gilded metal, embellished with plant motifs and flowing forms typical of 17th-century aesthetics. The surface features an antique patina and natural signs of aging that attest to its authenticity and historical charm. A striking piece with great character, ideal for collectors and sophisticated settings.
