Description

Large walnut Directoire farm table, late 18th century. Authentic solid walnut farm table from the Directoire period, late 18th century. It rests on four straight legs joined by a solid strut and opens with a side drawer in the waist. The large antique top in wide planks features superb veining and a beautiful warm patina acquired over time. The ensemble offers sober, elegant lines characteristic of provincial furniture of the Directoire period. This table perfectly combines authenticity, simplicity and decorative presence. It will ideally find its place in an old residence, a country house or a contemporary interior in search of antique furniture with character. This table perfectly combines authenticity, simplicity and decorative presence. Dimensions: Height: 73 cm Length: 183.5 cm Depth: 82 cm Epoque : Late 18th century -
