Description

A pair of high-backed square-backed chairs from the Qing Dynasty, dating to the 19th century, featuring carved aprons and side rails. Each chair, which varies slightly in size, is topped by a high backrest crowned with a gently curved rail. The central section features a concave slat, creating a soft contrast with the convex, more defined lines of the side supports. Below, the rectangular wooden seat rests on four straight legs, whose sturdiness is accentuated by a scalloped apron at the front and lateral struts that add strength and visual connection between the legs. Very good condition. Dimensions Total height 107 cm Seat height 50 cm Seat 43 x 32
