Description

Exhibition basket in engraved crystal and gilt bronze, late XIXe century
Elegant decorative basket from the late XIXe century, exquisitely combining the transparency of cut and engraved crystal with the richness of a finely chased and gilded bronze mounting. The bowl, with its flared, flowing shape, is made of clear crystal delicately engraved with plant motifs. It is highlighted by a spectacular ormolu mount with naturalistic decoration of vine shoots, leaves and bunches of grapes, executed with great finesse of chasing. The high, openwork handle, adorned with elegant twisted decoration, lends the ensemble lightness and distinction. This piece testifies to the Belle Époque taste for luxurious ornamental objects blending technical virtuosity and naturalistic inspiration. Epoque: Late XIXe century Materials:
