Description

Elegant bronze subject with shaded brown patina depicting a hunting dog in a questing position, captured with a remarkable sense of movement and naturalistic observation. The animal, with its taut body and the low gait characteristic of a dog following a trail, is treated with great attention to detail, particularly in the modeling of the coat and the attentive expression of the gaze.The work rests on a naturalistic terrace, itself mounted on a molded base with a coordinated patina. The composition exudes a beautiful impression of dynamism and bears witness to the tradition of French animal sculpture.Signature "Y. Mongniey" visible on the base.This sculpture will appeal to lovers of animal bronzes, cinegetics and classical decoration, bringing character and elegance to an interior or specialized collection.
