

Fragment Of Oil On Canvas, Profile Portrait Of A Young Man, In A White Tondo. Early 19th Century

190 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Oil painting

Width : 12 cms

Height : 12 cms

Description

Interesting small oil on canvas, probably a fragment of a larger canvas, profile portrait in white tondo, of a young man with medium-length hair, very romantic. The tondo resembles a plaster proof, in semi-relief, of a medal. It stands out well against the very dark background. A yellow flower in the lower left-hand corner suggests that this portrait is a fragment of a larger canvas. The profile in relief is lit from the left, and the shadows are well cast. The canvas is glued to a small, antique wooden plaque, itself trimmed on the back with a piece of dark brown morocco, a replacement for a coffret top? France, 19th century, early Romantic period.

Dealer

La Curieuse

Dessins anciens, curiosités, mobilier haute époque

Mobile : 0680646110

99 rue des rosiers Saint Ouen

Paris 75004