Description

An interesting watercolor on paper depicting a group of uniformed horsemen during a military drill or parade. The work is signed in pencil and dated 1912 in the lower left corner, although the signature is difficult to read. Based on the style and uniforms, the subject appears to depict a Central European cavalry unit, presumably German or Prussian, from the early 20th century. The watercolor features a quick and fresh brushwork, particularly effective in the rendering of the horses and uniforms. Preserved in a frame with a wide mat. Dimensions of the watercolor: 24 x 20 cm. Dimensions with frame: 52 x 47.5 cm. In good overall condition, with slight signs of aging and minor marginal paper loss consistent with the period.
