Description

"19th-Century Pharmacy Albarello Vase""19th Century Pharmacy Albarello Vase" / "Vase Albarello de pharmacie XIXe siècle" In the world of collecting and antiques, objects that tell the story of science and artistic craftsmanship are priceless. A great opportunity in my selection is this splendid "albarello" vase, which did not have a lid because this typical container was used for dried goods. It is made of Italian majolica from the first half of the 19th century, featuring a monochromatic blue design on a light background with geometric floral motifs. The shape, which narrows at the center, made it easy to remove from the shelf. Manufactured by the Minardi brothers in Faenza, 19th century. (It has a small chip at the base) H. 34 cm, Diam. 22 cm. Consequently, owning such a piece means
