Description

Raffined and particularly decorative, this petit cartel d'applique en bronze finement ciselé et doré illustre wonderfully the taste of the XIXe siècle for luxurious creations inspired by the Louis XV style. Elegantly shaped, the case is entirely dressed in sumptuous rocaille decoration composed of volutes, shells, foliage and asymmetrical scrolls, whose fine chasing testifies to high quality workmanship. The reserves are enriched with remarkable polychrome cloisonné enamels, in cobalt blue, turquoise, red and gold tones, forming a delicate floral decoration that brings exceptional visual richness to the ensemble. The circular white enamel dial, embellished with fine flowery garlands and elegant openwork gilt bronze hands, blends harmoniously into this refined composition. The quality of the materials, the balance of the proportions and the subtlety of the colors give this piece a precious presence despite its small dimensions. The reverse, crafted in cajou, testifies to the care taken in manufacturing down to the smallest detail, characteristic of quality objects destined for a discerning clientele. Beyond its watchmaking function, this cartel is a true object of decorative art, capable of adding a touch of elegance and refinement to a classic or eclectic interior. Models combining gilt bronze and cloisonné enamels are particularly sought-after today for their decorative character and rich execution.
