Description

A striking and highly decorative French ceramic asparagus serving set by Franco Sarreguemines, composed of nine matching pieces and distinguished by its rich amber, honey, and deep brown glazed finish. Designed specifically for serving asparagus, this sculptural set beautifully captures the elegance of French tableware design, with raised molded interiors intended to cradle and present asparagus spears in an elegant and practical way. The set includes a large serving platter accompanied by eight individual matching plates, all decorated with richly textured relief motifs inspired by foliage and organic forms. The glossy glaze, ranging from warm caramel and golden amber to darker chocolate tones, creates exceptional depth and luminosity, giving the ceramic a jewel-like appearance under light. The raised molded decoration evokes stylized asparagus spears and vegetal textures, enhancing both the decorative and functional quality of the service. Produced by Franco Sarreguemines and marked on the reverse, this beautiful service reflects the expressive ceramic aesthetic of mid-20th-century French tableware, likely dating to the 1960s-1970s. Both practical and sculptural, it makes a refined statement on a dining table while also serving as a highly decorative display piece in a kitchen, dining room, or collector's interior. A rare and charming set for collectors of French ceramics, entertaining enthusiasts, or anyone seeking an unusual and sophisticated serving service with warmth, texture, and unmistakable French character.
